WINTER SKIN BARRIER REPAIR

The Science of Ceramides, Fatty Acids & Cholesterol

Winter air in Bangladesh causes rapid transepidermal water loss (TEWL), stripping the moisture barrier and leaving skin tight, dry, and irritated.

A healthy skin barrier relies on a 3:1:1 ratio of Ceramides, Cholesterol, and Free Fatty Acids.

Golden Rules for Winter Skin:

1. Switch from foaming to hydrating milk or balm cleansers.
2. Layer essences on damp skin before applying thick creams.
3. Seal moisture overnight with ceramides and pure squalane oil.

BRIDAL & FESTIVE SKINCARE TIMELINE

8-Week Count Down to Flawless Luminous Skin

Achieving radiant bridal skin requires systematic preparation rather than last-minute harsh treatments.

Week 8-6: Establish barrier hydration and gentle chemical exfoliation (Lactic acid or PHA).

Week 5-4: Fade hyperpigmentation with targeted Niacinamide & stabilized Vitamin C.

Week 3-2: Focus on intense hydration sheet masks and scalp nourishing oils.

Final Week: Strict gentle care, SPF 50+ daily, and zero new experimental products.

MORNING HYDRATION & PROTECTION

Layering Lightweight Moisture for All-Day Glow

Winter days require balancing rich moisture with a breathable finish.

Step 1: Gentle non-stripping cleanser (pH 5.5).

Step 2: Dual essence layering with Centella Asiatica & Hyaluronic Acid.

Step 3: Nourishing Vitamin E & C antioxidant serum.

Step 4: Ceramide-infused soothing barrier cream.

Step 5: Broad-spectrum moisturizing sunscreen SPF 50+ PA++++.

NIGHT RECOVERY & SLUGGING PROTOCOL

Overnight Intensive Nourishment for Dry Winter Skin

During sleep, cellular repair peaks. Winter nights are the prime opportunity for intense deep nourishment.

Step 1: Gentle oil cleanse to remove pollutants and SPF.

Step 2: Peptide & Bifida Ferment repair serum.

Step 3: Rich multi-ceramide night recovery cream.

Step 4: Targeted eye cream for fine lines and dark circles.

Step 5: Targeted slugging on dry patches with pure healing balm.
